EVERGREEN CEMETERY - CITY OF SEASIDE, OREGON

Evergreen Cemetery is located south of Seaside, on the north side of Beerman Creek Road. It received its name from the Evergreen Lodge of the Masonic Order, which established the cemetery in 1913. The earliest death date in the cemetery, however, is Mary B. Gerritse, 1909. The first Mason buried here was James Irwin, in 1913.

Some years later, the Masonic Lodge turned the cemetery over to the City of Seaside. Many south county pioneers are buried here, including John and Mary Gerritse, John and Josie Selnes, Harry and Anna Wheatley, Henry and Eugenia Ober, to name a few.

The following three lists of burials were compiled from a reading done of the markers during Memorial Day weekend, 1987, correlated with maps and records provided by the City of Seaside.

The first list is alphabetic by surname.

The second list is chronological, by death date.

The third list is by block-lot location.

On these lists, a bracket [indicates a marker on the gravesite. This is followed by other information from the stone, or from city records.

A plus sign + immediately preceding a surname indicates that person was a veteran of the armed services.

The small letters sometimes following the block-lot number are indicators as follows:

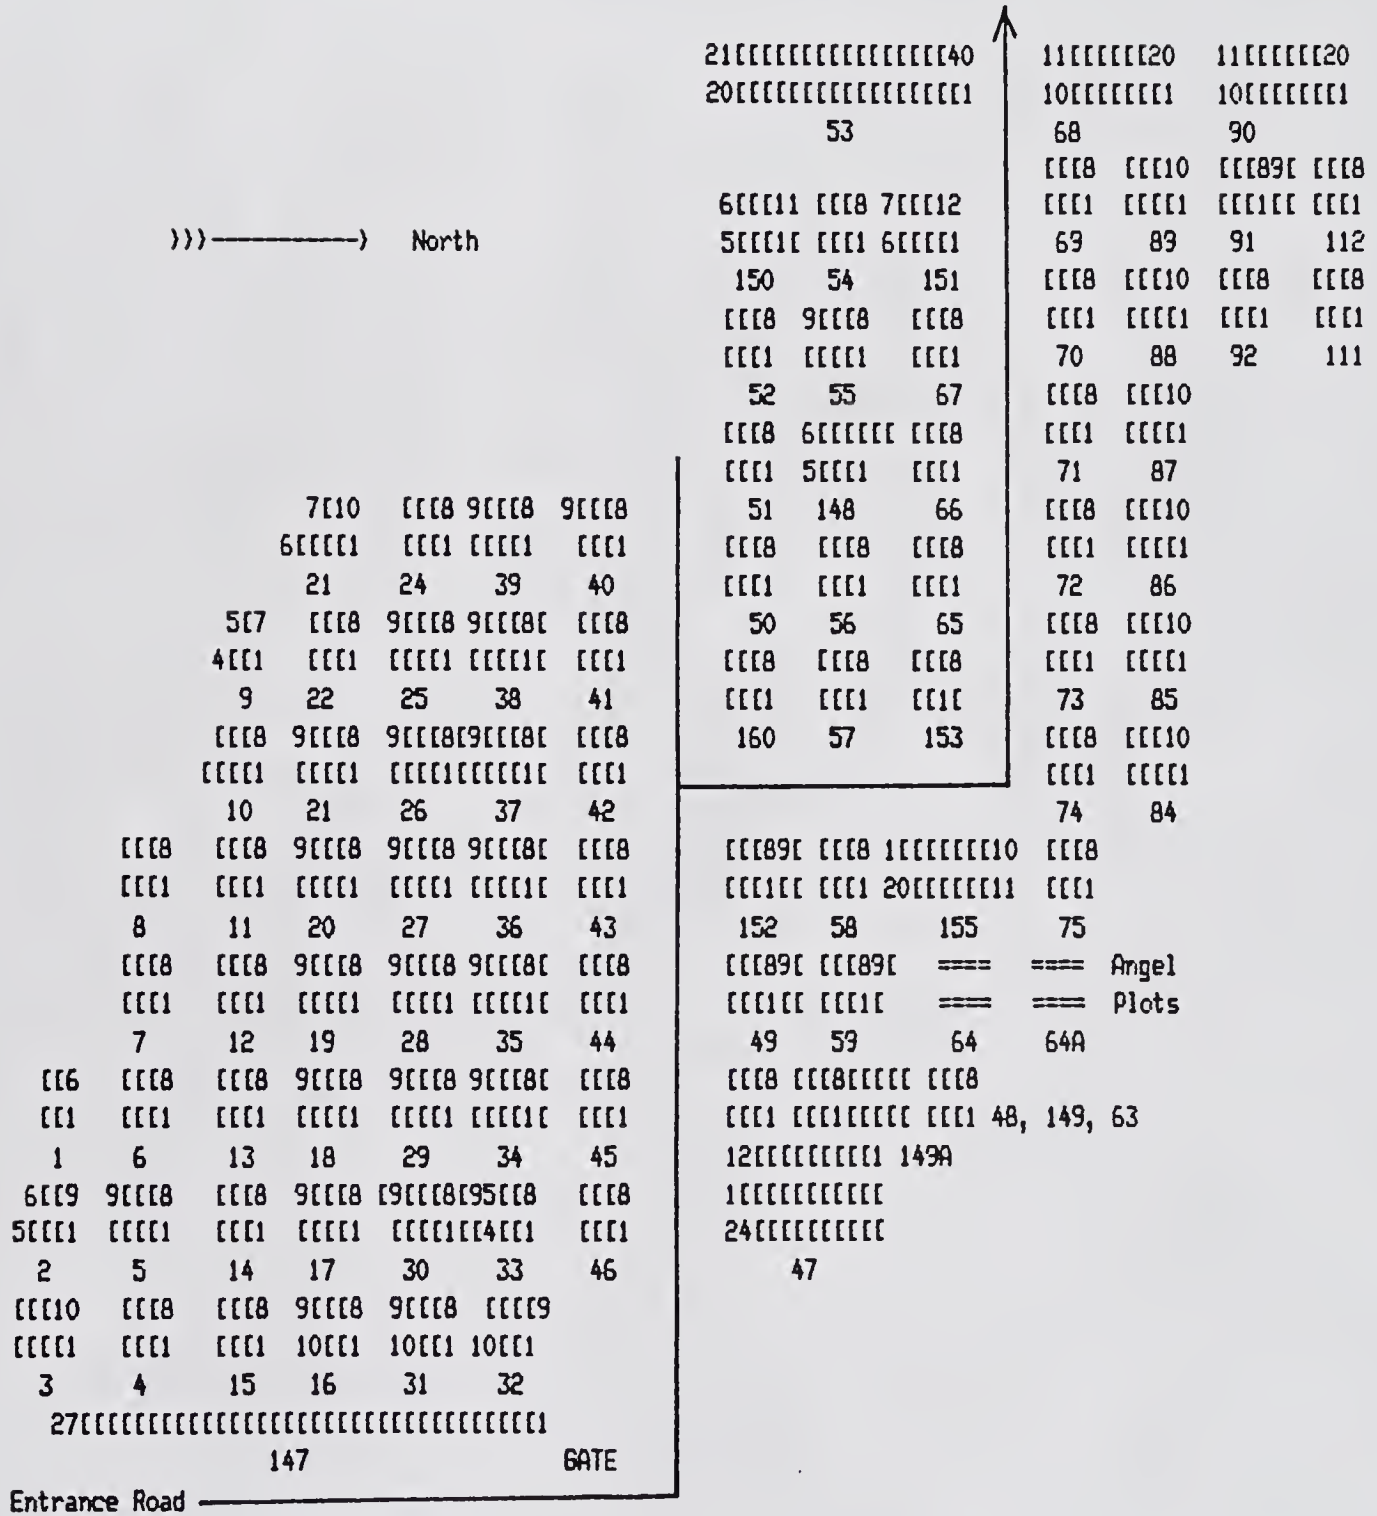

n = not usable location

r = means this location is reserved only

u = unknown / unidentified burial

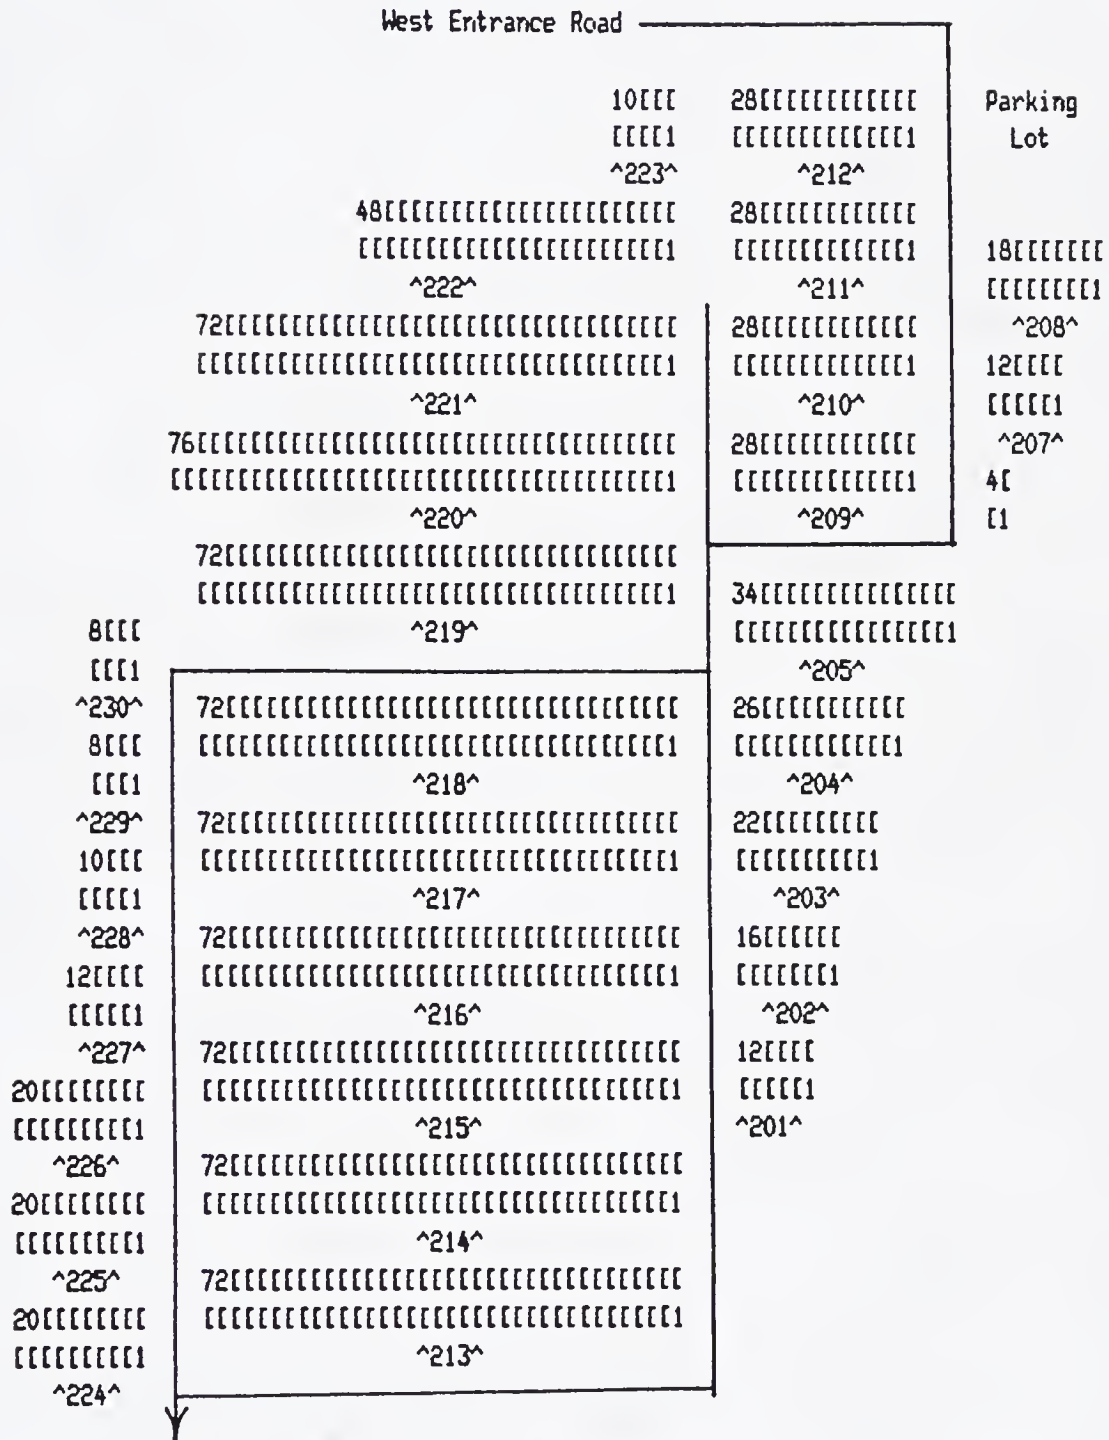

? = questionable record or location imprecise
